2004: SUPREME PRINCE, 8 11 3, (P Flynn, 14-1) P Hobbs, 15 ran.

STARFORM BOLD BISHOP may not be a hearty battler but quickly settled the issue up the hill to beat Tiger Cry (gave 2lb) by 2½l (Cheltenham 2m Class B h'cap ch/yielding) last time. He was well suited by being produced off a strong pace and is likely to have the race run to suit again. Supreme Prince, who needed his reappearance when weakening to finish 13l 3rd giving 6lb to Impek (Aintree 2m4f gd2 h'cap ch/sof) last month, idled in front when beating Horus by ½l over CD (lstd h'cap ch/yielding) in March in which Chauvinist (4lb better off) finished 2l away in 3rd. He can confirm the form on 2lb worse terms but he is now 5lb worse off with Claymore whom he beat by ¾l in last year's renewal run on good ground. That was Claymore's last outing over fences and the second time in a row he has finished runner-up in this race. Spring Grove usually goes well fresh but was disappointing on his return when favourite and just under 20l 4th giving 12lb to Schuh Shine (Sandown 2m41f 10yds C h'cap ch/yielding) in which Kalca Mome (now 1lb worse off) finished a distant last of seven. Dark N Sharp showed he was no backmarker when giving 8lb and a 3l beating to Marked Man (Huntingdon 2m41f 10yds C h'cap ch/sof) recently. He left the impression there was more in the tank and cannot be ruled out off an 8lb higher mark.

2004: DISTANT PROSPECT, 8 10 4, (T J Murphy, 3-1 fav) A Balding, 11 ran.

STARFORM PHAR BLEU, a CD winner and a highly credible 5th in the Triumph Hurdle at the Cheltenham Festival in March, made a highly promising debut for new connections when just under 5l 3rd race 4lb from Lingo (Cheltenham 2m110yds gd3 h'cap h'de/yielding) 13 days ago. He is given the nod over Dom D'Orgeval who is a great credit to his trainer having climbed nearly three stone up the handicap in the past 18 months winning four times in the process. He too made an encouraging reappearance when just over 8l 3rd giving 2lb to Hordago (Cheltenham 2m5f C h'cap h'de/yielding) 13 days ago in which Cherub (now 1lb better off) finished 4l away in 5th. Manorson was heavily backed on his reappearance but lack of peak fitness found him out in testing conditions when 15l 5th giving 10lb to Verassi (Sandown 2m110yds D h'cap h'de/heavy) three weeks ago in which Migwell finished a remote last of seven. Attractively weighted, he is sure to add to his two nov h'de wins (both gained at Taunton) when speed is at a premium. Genghis (preferred engagement in the 3.30 at Newcastle) didn't jump as well as he can when beaten 5l by Rooster Booster at levels (Huntingdon 2m110yds B h'de/good) six weeks ago.

★ IRISH trainer Shane Donohoe and conditional jockey Andrew McNamara stole the show at Musselburgh by combining for a near 556-1 four-timer.

They plundered the first three races with Not Today Sir (2-1 fav), How Art Thou (9-2), Lanaken (8-1) and capped a memorable day by taking the concluding bumper through Agent Lois (11-4 fav).

Donohoe, based in County Cavan, is no stranger to British success having saddled Cregg House to spring a 50-1 surprise in the Topham Chase at Aintree in April.

★ CONNECTIONS of Ashley Brook are in no hurry to find a replacement jockey for the injured Paddy Brennan in next Saturday's William Hill - Tingle Creek Trophy at Sandown.

Brennan is expected to be out of action for several weeks after damaging his right leg in a fall at Uttoxeter on Thursday.

"I have to chat to the owner Mrs Ellis about who rides him at Sandown. We are in no rush at present. No one has as yet rung up to inquire about the ride," said trainer Kevin Bishop.

He did not rule out Rodi Greene resuming his partnership.

MUST NEED TIME

THE MARKET MAN has the size to make an impact over fences when Nicky Henderson decides to send him in that direction but in the meantime he remains far from exposed over hurdles after dispatching his rivals with ease in the three-mile Pertemps Hurdle qualifier at Newbury.

HANDICAP SNIP

NADOVER (1.05 Newbury Saturday) is well treated on his handicap bow having shown plenty of promise over fences both in France and on his chasing bow here recently.

ONE TO SWERVE

BARACOUDA (2.05 Newbury Saturday) has been a magnificent servant to his stable but this former champion stayer is getting on in years now.

BEST EACH WAY

IRIS BLEU (2.40 Newbury Saturday) was quite impressive at Wincanton last time and represents better value at morning odds than stablemate Comply Or Die.

Darkness lights way for Charlie

IRIS'S GIFT's unbeaten record over fences this season was brought to a disappointing end at Newbury as the 2004 Stayers' Hurdle hero was comfortably put in his place by 14-1 chance Darkness.

Sent off the 4-7 favourite to make it four out of four over fences this season in the three-mile test the front-running grey looked in trouble jumping the grey fence.

He was headed soon after by Lough Derg. They were joined four out by Darkness, who jumped into the lead at that fence.

Forced

The 14-1 winner soon went clear and the Tony McCoy-ridden Iris's Gift was left in second when Lough Derg came to grief at the third last. But Jonjo O'Neill's charge tired on the flat and in the end only just held on to the runner-up's slot by a short head from Unleash, 13 lengths adrift of the Charlie Egerton-trained winner.

"I didn't really fancy him today but I was rather forced into taking on these very good horses. He absolutely has to go left-handed, which makes finding races for him quite difficult," said Egerton. "I've probably run him on ground that was too soft in the past and he seemed to appreciate conditions today."

O'Neill did not offer any excuses for Iris's Gift.

He said: "You couldn't really blame his jumping. He only made one little mistake but you could see he wasn't travelling from as early as the back straight and Tony said he never felt quite right."

"I don't know where we go from here. We'll check him over and see how he is but this was a good race, he's only been beaten by one horse and perhaps that's as good as he is."

As a result of the disappointing effort, William Hill and VC Bet removed Iris's Gift from their lists for the totepot Cheltenham Handicap Cup.

Mick Fitzgerald rode his first winner since returning from a four-month absence caused by a broken bone in his neck as The Market Man ran out a comfortable victor in the Pertemps Handicap Hurdle.

Always travelling sweetly, the winner cruised up to join Amicelli

ON THE MARK: The Market Man on the run to the final flight. And without having to ask too serious a question of his mount, Fitzgerald eased The Market Man home to win by three lengths.

GREYHOUND SPECIAL

There is some cracking open race action tonight for punters to get stuck into with attractive cards in the Midlands at Hall Green and in London where the build-up continues for the Racing Post Festival.

The heats of the Racing Post Festival Hurdles sees ace timber-topper Druids Micky Jo return to action following an injury sustained in October.

But DON'T back him tonight and I recommend that we get stuck into the 6-4 available for him to win the event outright. When he is on-song Druids Micky Jo is in a different league to any other hurdler around at the moment and even better, he likes racing around the tricky East London circuit.

Heat two of the hurdle event which goes to post at 8.39 has an altogether more competitive look about it.

In such trappy contests it often pays to 'go local' and that is just what we are going with John Mullins blue box runner KELSO BRUNO. Far from devoid of early pace, it would be no surprise to see Kelso Bruno hit the lids and make every yard of the running.

by GEOFFREY THOMAS

Over at Hall Green I like the chance of a hound that finished stone cold last when he last raced!

The Frank Wright trained SOURCEY BLUES is a decent sprinter and was upstides eventual winner Teddys Flyer when stopped in his tracks when they met recently at Coventry. Drawn next to the rails tonight in the 258 metre dash a clear passage awaits for this speedster and I expect Sourcey Blues to enjoy a comparative solo.

In the 480 metre 10.05 I again look to the red box to provide us with the likely winner: Paula Simmons has her course and distance winner FRISBY FLINSTONE in good order. A strong running dog who is devilishly difficult to pass when on the bunny, there appears every possibility that he will repeat his 28.61 sec victory which he last recorded at the track when housed next to the rails.

Very much a Midlands dog for Midlands people, Frisby Flinstone looks set to reward his large fan base with a big run tonight. I confidently expect this experienced tracker to have his nose in front rounding the first bend.

STARBETS NO.1 FOR BETTING

KING HIGH: Harald is great each-way value

ON THE RAILS

THERE'S a King's ransom to be won in the Hennessy Cognac Gold Cup at Newbury this afternoon.

The race has seen some great gambles in the past – one or two to my cost I recall – and this year there's been an ante-post plunge on Nicky Henderson's Trabalgan.

Henderson has won every major jump prize at his local track except of the Hennessy and his charge has been backed from 14-1 down to 5-1 favourite with VC Bet.

He was a top class novice last season and won the Royal and SunAlliance Chase at Cheltenham by beating two of today's rivals, Comply or Die and Cornish Rebel.

He could provide the perfect return to racing for Mick Fitzgerald after four months on the sidelines but on Cheltenham running he'll be pushed to beat Comply or Die – the pick of Martin Pipe's runners – on revised terms.

He has been very popular this week with VC Bet and I doubt if there is much value in his current price.

Best Mate's brother Cornish Rebel will be trying to maintain his three-race unbeaten record at Newbury for Paul Nicholls and Ruby Walsh but he strikes me as a "bride" horse and his resolution will be tested to the full up the long straight.

I can see a big run coming from Kandjar D'Allier who represents Alan King's bang-in-form stable and stayed on well to take third place behind Our Vic at Cheltenham.

Pace

But I'm going all out for King Harald who ran as though he would come on a bundle for his seasonal debut at Cheltenham two weeks ago.

He was up with the pace throughout but clearly blew up coming to the last and struggled over that obstacle. Harald then appeared to get his second wind and took fourth place behind Innos.

He has reportedly come out of that race in rude health and if that is the case then he must represent great each-way value at 9-1 and I shall be keeping him on my side.

The Long Distance Hurdle at 2.05pm looks a straight fight between Baracouda – who is trying to win the race for a third year running – and his Cheltenham conqueror Inglis Drevier. The latter must be the selection and proved his well-being when scoring on his reappearance at Wetherby last month.

TRICKY FOR RICKY

CARLOS Maussa can be backed at 8-1 to shock Ricky Hatton tonight (live on Sky Box Office).

In his last bout Maussa knocked out favourite Vivian Harris in the seventh round to claim the WBA title.

IBF champion Hatton (right) comes into the ring on the back of an impressive victory against Kostya Tszyu.

But he has not previously met an opponent as unpredictable or unorthodox as Maussa.

The Colombian's been described as a 'nightmare' and a 'big-handed, heavy puncher' and Hatton isn't under-estimating the task facing him in Sheffield ring.

However, the WBA title is traditionally more prized than the IBF version and with the distinct possibility of a rough fight in which Hatton could get cut, there is no value in backing the Manchester born fighter at long odds-on.

STAGE IS SET FOR KEVIN

BIG-HITTER: Kevin Pietersen

Pietersen will relish England approach

ENGLAND'S cricketers are sure to take a positive approach in the Third Test against Pakistan after clinging on for the draw this week.

But I think there's another stalemate in store next week, which is available at 11-10.

Pitches out there aren't the easiest in which to get a result and Pakistan are unlikely to do anything to threaten their series lead.

Michael Vaughan's men, on the other hand, have to be positive to get the win and that approach could well play into the hands of big-hitting Kevin Pietersen. The skunk-haired batsman is 4-1 to be England's top scorer.

The Paddy Power COLUMN

who claimed earlier this season that the Premiership was boring have long since fallen quiet. One reason might be they've discovered the endless variety of Premiership football betting that's available these days!

Paddy Power has more of these than most so, whatever your preference, hopefully we can pick out a few winners this week.

The big match tomorrow is Manchester United's visit to West Ham. I think West

Ham will be relishing the prospect of taking on a wobbly United right now and Upton Park hasn't always been a favourite stomping ground for the Red Devils in the past.

Trouble

There have been a few lumpy bets on West Ham at 4-1 in our East London shops this week but I prefer the look of the draw at 5-2, or 11-2 for the 1-1 draw.

Wayne Rooney has been in great form in the last few weeks, certainly one of United's best players, and the England striker is 9-2 to score first in the match.

For West Ham, veteran striker Teddy Sheringham is facing his former club and we will be refunding losing first goalscorer, correct score and scorecast bets on the match if Teddy scores the last – an 8-1 shot.

There is a whole host of betting specials available on Manchester United right now.

Some of the bets that stick out for me include 15-8 for Fergie to quit during the summer, 14-1 Bolton to be Roy Keane's next club and 5-2 for Ottmar Hitzfeld to be the next manager.

BURLEY'S IN THE WINGS

PORTSMOUTH became the first Premiership team this season to dispose of their manager and speculation is already intense on the likely successor to Alain Perrin.

For me it's a three-horse race. Neil Warnock (right) is the hot odds-on favourite at 10-11, and with no contract at Sheffield United beyond the end of the season he is certainly an option.

But I like the look of George Burley at 5-1. Not only is the Scot a free agent but he's also enjoyed success at all the clubs he's managed, most recently taking Hearts to the top of the SPL.

Bobby Robson shouldn't be dismissed at 7-1 but could you imagine Harry Redknapp making a sensational return at 18-1?

It doesn't get any easier for Pompey tonight as they entertain Chelsea. It should be a comfortable Chelsea win with the 3-0 scoreline available at 7-1.

For first goalscorer, look no further than 4-1 Hernan Crespo, who is also 13-8 to outscore Portsmouth's main strike threat Lua Lua.

STAR BETS

SHEAR WE GO

Everton Good hunting for Al

SOME people's idea of paradise is a sun-drenched beach. But for Alan Shearer an icy-cold Goodison is pure heaven.

The Newcastle striker adores playing against Everton. Over the years he has scored 16 Premiership goals against them – including some of his very best. So David Moyes' side should be very afraid when Newcastle arrive on Merseyside tomorrow.

Shearer is fit after his hernia operation and will be keen to continue his goalscoring rampage against Everton and is as short as 5-4 with Bet Direct to get on the score sheet once again.

Ominously for the home side, Michael Owen has recovered from his hamstring strain while £9million Spaniard Albert Luque – described as having a cannon in his left boot – will be in the squad.

All this makes worrying reading for a side whose performance in a 4-0 defeat at West Brom last Saturday has been described as 'shameful and shambolic'.

It had looked as if Everton were improving, but now it's back to square one. I'm sure Everton won't go down, but until they spend in the transfer window it's worth opposing them.

Decent

Even without some of their big names there was much to be admired in Newcastle's first-half performance at Chelsea last weekend and I expect them to be good enough to take all three points and at a top-priced 7-4 with Bet Direct they appear worth a punt. A 2-0 win for the Magpies looks about right.

Shearer is as big as 6-1 with Ladbrokes to get the opening goal.

Big Peter Crouch says he won't hide, despite the fact he hasn't scored in his 16 Liverpool appearances.

The goals will come in time and he is making a significant contribution to the decent run his side is putting together. He certainly won't find it easy to break his duck today at the City of Manchester Stadium and he's as big as 13-5 with Totalbet to break his Liverpool hoodoo, while Blue Square go 2-7 that he fails to score today!

Jeff Stelling

Liverpool need to stop Andrew Cole orchestrating City attacks as he has done so effectively so often this season.

Stop Cole performing and you are part-way to stopping City.

Famous

Five of the last eight meetings between these two teams in Manchester have ended all square. It's not surprising that Totalbet are as short as 2-1 that it ends up a stalemate again.

Will Crouch finally get his goal? I think he might! In fact let's take Ladbrokes' 8-1 that he does.

Brad Friedel defied Arsenal almost single-handedly three years ago at Highbury in a famous Blackburn victory. It may need more of the same from the keeper.

Mark Hughes has put together a highly-watchable side but they'll be coming up against a team I believe are near their best.

It's a home win for me. And the scorer? Thierry Henry has scored 99 Premiership goals at Highbury. Back him to make his ton today.

He's worth a bet at 11-4 with Ladbrokes to net first, while I wouldn't put anyone off Totalbet's 13-2 on him scoring the first and Arsenal winning 2-0.

Robbie's Keane to turn Spurs' luck

SECOND-place Wigan were unlucky not to get a result against Arsenal last weekend, but I'll be surprised if they don't get anything today when Tottenham visit the JJB.

Spurs aren't on the best of runs after such a bright start to the season, having gone four games without a win.

Wigan have only gone down twice at home to the likes of Chelsea and Arsenal and I don't think that last weekend's result is going to keep the players down for too long.

Spurs have only won twice on the road this season and I don't think they'll do any better at the JJB. It's going to be tight game with both teams battling for points so I think we could end up with a draw.

Dave Bassett
HARRY'S GAME

I fancy both teams to get on the score sheet so 1-1 looks like a good bet at 11-2 with Ladbrokes.

Robbie Keane has only one Premiership goal to his name this season but I think that could be two by the end of today and he looks a decent shout to score the first goal.

Decent

Out-of-form Charlton travel to Villa Park today in a game where the Addicks need to get at least a point. Alan Curbishley's men have lost their last three games but on a positive note they have only been defeated once on the road. Villa's win away to Sunderland last weekend was a decent result but it's Villa's home form that worries me, having won just once at Villa Park back in August against Blackburn.

This game finished 0-0 last season and another draw is on the cards. Let's go for a 1-1 this time around.

Milan Baros can make it two goals in two games here and the 6-1 with Bet Direct to score the first goal looks decent value.

Fulham play host to Bolton tomorrow in another tight encounter.

Craven Cottage has been Fulham's rock and in the last few weeks they've beaten both Man City and Liverpool. If they carry on in this style, Bolton are going to find it difficult to take away anything from this game.

Trust

Bolton's recent form is impressive, having won their last three league games. But they do tend to struggle against some of the lesser teams in the league and they just don't seem like a team that you can trust on the road, despite a good 1-1 result in Portugal during the week.

I doubt there'll be goals in this game and one might just win it for Fulham.

CHALLENGE FRED

IT WAS a bad week all round for bookie Fred Done and challenger Kenny Colfer of Liverpool as both failed to find a winning bet in last week's head-to-head.

Everton fan Kenny lumped most of his £200 on a 2-1 win for David Moyes' men but would have faced a long journey home after travelling to see them thumped 4-0 at West Brom.

The end result was that Fred kept his cash in his pocket for a sixth consecutive week.

Each week we pick a challenger for the competition from our postbag and if they earn more cash than Fred from three bets, they keep all of their winnings.

This week it's the turn of Colin Mulholland of Northampton.

FRED'S SELECTIONS

- £90 on Middlesbrough to beat West Brom at 4-6
- £60 on Newcastle to beat Everton at 6-4
- £50 on Wigan and Spurs to draw at 11-5

COLIN'S SELECTIONS

- £40 ew Ballycassidy in the Hennessy Gold Cup
- £60 Aston Villa to beat Charlton at 5-4
- £60 Wigan and Spurs to be a draw at 11-5

GOALS haven't exactly been flowing on Merseyside this term.

As well as having a book on when Peter Crouch scores his first Liverpool goal, we've been inundated with bets on when Everton will score more than one in a Premiership game.

Our favourite is 2-1 they score two or more against Newcastle at Goodison tomorrow, although I think the 5-1 that David Moyes' side don't break their sequence until the home game with West Ham on December 14 is the value.

In the Premiership we are keen to take on Manchester City at 15-8 at home to Liverpool, Wigan, 9-5 at home to Spurs and Bolton, 15-8 at Fulham tomorrow.

If that treble 'kops' we will be in trouble as we already have heavy liabilities on all three sides.

City have only played Bolton of note at home and, for all Stuart Pearce's urgings, failed to break down Rovers last week.

Wigan will have a blip sooner rather than later, while Bolton have a modest record post-UEFA Cup.

I am on Northampton big for League Two at 4-6 against Lincoln. Burnley at 8-13 and Palace at 6-4 are my other weekend bankers!

ANDY ON TARGET

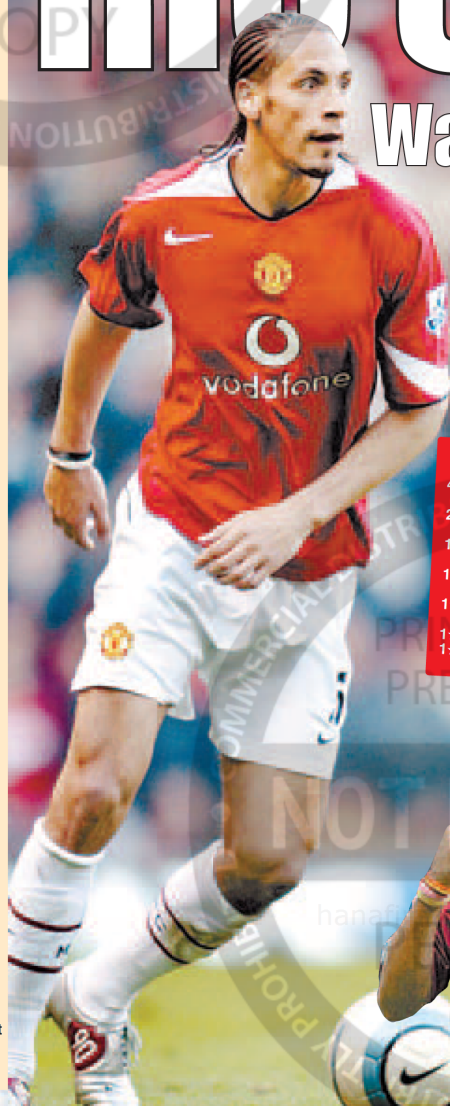

SOCCER pundit Andy Townsend netted a first goalscorer double last week with Joe Cole and Collins John finding the target for Chelsea and Fulham.

Andy was joined in the winner's enclosure by Jeff Stelling, who tipped Arsenal to beat Wigan with Thierry Henry to score.

Paddy Power gave England on the handicap against the All Blacks while Behind Enemy Lines guest columnist Chris James of Blue Square gave readers a winning four-timer.

Andy Townsend ON THE BALL

IT seems like the bubble has burst at Old Trafford.

A disastrous week started with Roy Keane leaving the club and was followed by a disappointing goalless draw with Villarreal in their Champions League clash.

United now travel to London and face West Ham in what I believe is a must-win game.

The Hammers home form has been good, having lost just one game at Upton Park and they've got a good work ethic that should see them out of the bottom three at the end of the season.

Choice

If we forget about United's midweek result, their Premiership form looks solid and they've got to believe that they can get back to winning ways here.

But their midfield players will really need to step up their game and start dominating matches.

The draw at 5-2 with Luton will be a popular choice but I reckon United will win this one and the general 8-11 is a fair price.

Wayne Rooney makes things happen for the United and I think he's a nice bet to get the first goal at 9-2 with Blue Square.

I fancy a 2-1 score line and if you chuck Rooney into the mix you can get a huge 28-1 scorecast with Bet Direct.

It's a family tie here with Anton and Rio Ferdinand lining up against each other.

Anton got a goal against Spurs last weekend and his brother will be desperate to match that.

Football can work in some mysterious ways and I wouldn't be surprised to see Rio pop one in the net this week - he's 14-1 with Bet Direct to score at anytime.

Blue Square offer an interesting 13-2 that both Ferdinands keep clean sheets. I doubt that will happen and Blue Square's 10-11 that neither keep it goalless looks more likely.

Portsmouth haven't had the best of weeks either after sack-ing manager Alain Perrin - and that's never a good build-up to a game against the champions.

Caretaker manager Joe Jordan will be really respected down at Fratton Park but I don't know if this itself will be enough to spark a reaction - Chelsea are just too good.

The Blues' Champions League victory against Anderlecht was really impressive and it was practically over before it started after two early goals.

Portsmouth have yet to record a victory at home and it will be a minor miracle if this is any different come tomorrow morning.

Value

A Chelsea victory is not really a working man's price at 4-11 so it may be better looking at the half-time/full-time market.

Chelsea half-time, Chelsea full-time is 8-11 with Total Bet and that looks like a bit more value.

Portsmouth will find it difficult to break down the Chelsea defence and I'll be shocked if they score a goal. I'm going for a 2-0 Blues win which is a good price at 11-2 with Blue Square.

Frank Lampard hasn't had a goal for a couple of games and that's a good enough reason to back him to score the first. He's 6-1 with Total Bet.

It's downhill

SKIING is the biz. Not only is it the most fun you can have with two planks of wood, you get winter wonderland surroundings and après ski thrown in too.

OK it can be pricey, especially if you join Princes Wills and Harry on the piste at Klosters, but the good news is, it doesn't have to be.

Check out PHIL BOUCHER'S handy guide to the best bargain resorts going and you'll avoid all those slippery pricing slopes...

SET SAIL FOR FESTIVE FUN

IF you fancy some seasonal cheer next weekend, check out one of the biggest Christmas festivals in Britain.

Portsmouth is putting on a cracker with three days of celebrity guests and live entertainment. There's a parade through the city to HMS Victory within Portsmouth's historic dockyard, which will feature Radio 2's Ken Bruce on an open top bus.

Other parade guests include Chitty Chitty Bang Bang and the Pink Panther car, plus the Crazy Frog.

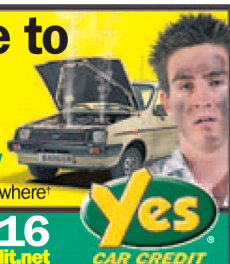

Visitors also get a whole weekend of top music and dance at the dockyard. Adult tickets cost £10, concessions £8 and families £33. Entry to all heritage attractions in the dockyard is included.

Call the 24-hour information line on 02392 861512 or log onto www.historicdockyard.co.uk.

WEST EUROPE

FRANCE, Austria and Switzerland make up the traditional heartland of European skiing. So a trip to any of them is guaranteed to be full of exciting days and rowdy nights. Of the three, France possibly offers the most variety, with the Alps, Massif Central and Vosges providing all the winter sports you could ever want.

French resorts are also much easier to reach, whether you happen to travel by plane, train or automobile. The advantages of Austria and Switzerland are perfect alpine welcomes and some of the most amazing natural sights on earth.

The skiing is also second to none and at resorts such as St Moritz and Klosters you may even find you're racing royalty. The one downside is the cost, as many Swiss resorts in particular are pretty expensive.

Look around for a deal.

SOUTHERN Europe offers excellent skiing and is generally a much cheaper option than France or Switzerland. Italy has a range of top class resorts, including Sestriere, which is hosting the 2006 Winter Olympics.

Look west and the tiny principality of Andorra provides the largest skiable area in the Pyrenees.

This includes three ski stations, 282 km of slopes, 107 lifts and 1,387 snow canons which guarantee skiing during the whole season.

Spanish resorts are dotted all over the southern slopes of the Pyrenees.

Further south there's also the fabulous Sierra Nevada in Andalusia, which provides skiing with sea views from the stunning mountains of Granada.

At 3,000m above sea level, Laguna and Veleta pistes afford views of both sides of the Mediterranean.
